ABOUT ME

My Journey Through Music

I'm a music producer and guitarist whose work moves between the stage, the classroom and the studio. My training began with a two-year guitar course at Tansen Sangeet Mahavidyalaya, followed by Trinity College London's Grade 3 Rock & Pop Guitar examination, which I passed with Distinction.

I'm currently studying for a Bachelor of Performing Arts at the School of Music, AAFT (2023–2027). I play classical, acoustic and electric guitar — in college bands, collaborative sets and stage events, and I have taught guitar and ukulele at Modern Public School, Delhi.

As a music producer at Dusq I've produced binaural beats and meditation tracks in Logic Pro and worked on audio narration, editing and processing. I've also handled sound at live events, including volunteering on the sound team at the 16th Global Film Festival Noida.

I'm especially drawn to the meeting point of Indian and Western music. My paper on how the two traditions are perceived as cathartic tools was published in the AAFT Journal in January 2026.
